

Timed Response

- Definition
 - When a timed response is required, the user shall be alerted and given sufficient time to indicate more time is required

- Issues

- Someone with extremely low vision may be a slower-than-average reader
- Someone using assistive technology may not be able respond to all questions within the allotted time
- Many forms, when they "time out" automatically, also delete data that has been entered. The result is that someone with a disability who is slow to enter data cannot complete the form

- Solution

- The user shall be alerted via a prompt and given sufficient time to indicate whether additional time is needed
- How much time?
 - That would be based on a discussion about security requirements
 - Timed response tests may require a separate test
